

Accessibility Statement for Proud to Care Oxfordshire

Proud to Care Oxfordshire is committed to providing an accessible website that is easy to use by anyone, whatever their age, background, access device or level of ability/disability.

For example, that means you should be able to:

- change colours, contrast levels and fonts
- zoom in up to 300% without the text spilling off the screen
- navigate most of the website using just a keyboard
- navigate most of the website using speech recognition software listen to most of the website using a screen reader (including the most recent versions of JAWS, NVDA and Voice-over)

We've also made the website text as simple as possible to understand.

AbilityNet has advice on making your device easier to use if you have a disability.

We have designed this website with features that make it easier to use by everyone, including those with visual, auditory, physical, speech, cognitive, or neurological disabilities. We are aiming to meet the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines \(WCAG\), which are the international standard for accessible websites and content.

How accessible is this website?

This website has been developed to be as accessible as possible. However, we know some parts of this website aren't fully accessible:

- some of our online forms are difficult to navigate using just a keyboard
- some links may not be distinct enough and may be difficult for people with moderate visual impairments to read
- some content may be difficult to navigate using a screen reader
- pinch to zoom is enabled on tablet and mobile

Reporting accessibility problems with this website

Whilst all aspects of this website have been carefully designed to comply with international accessibility guidelines, there are sections that have not been fully updated. If you have any problems accessing our website or part of it, then please contact us.

Enforcement procedure

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) is responsible for enforcing the accessibility regulations. If you're not happy with how we respond to your complaint, contact the Equality Advisory and Support Service \(EASS\).

Technical information about this website's accessibility

Proud to Care Oxfordshire is committed to making its website accessible, in accordance with the Public Sector Bodies (Websites and Mobile Applications) (No. 2) Accessibility Regulations 2018.

This website is partially compliant with the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines version 2.1. However, this is a new website and over the coming weeks, we will be adding, testing, reviewing and improving content.

Content that's not within the scope of the accessibility regulations

External links and content - This website may link or embed content from third-party, external websites or services that are not fully accessible.

What we're doing to improve accessibility

We monitor this website weekly and we aim to address any issues promptly. This is a new website and over the coming weeks, we will be adding, testing, reviewing and improving content and updating this statement accordingly. This statement was prepared on 18 June 2021.
